Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

1 Introduction

Merlin Entertainments Limited, its group companies (companies that are directly or indirectly controlled or owned by Merlin) and affiliates ("we", "us", "Merlin") operate attractions, resort theme parks and hotels around the world. This privacy notice explains how we collect and use personal information about you when you interact with us — whether you are visiting one of our attractions, using our websites or apps, or contacting us.

Please take a moment to read this notice. It tells you what personal information we collect, why we use it, who we share it with, and what your rights are. If you have any questions, you can always contact us using the details in Section 15.

1.1 Regional differences

Our privacy practices may vary depending on where you are based or which attraction you are visiting, to reflect local laws and requirements. This notice sets out our global approach. Where your jurisdiction has specific requirements, these are covered in the relevant Regional Specific Privacy Information at the end of this notice. Please read the section that applies to you alongside the main notice.

1.2 Activity-specific notices

From time to time, we run competitions, events and promotions. Where an activity involves additional processing of your personal information not covered in this notice, we will provide you with a separate privacy notice when we collect your personal data for these activities. Those notices supplement this one and should be read alongside it.

1.3 Privacy information for children

If you are a child or young person, we have a special section of this privacy notice written just for you. It explains what information we collect about you when you visit us, what we use it for, and what rights you have. Please take a look — it's written in a way that's easy to understand.

Read our children's privacy information in Section 9.1.

1.4 Updates

We may update this notice from time to time, for example to reflect changes in the law or the way we operate. The current version will always be available on our website. If we make significant changes, we will let you know.

1.5 Security

We take reasonable steps to implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect your personal information against unauthorised access, loss, destruction or alteration.

1.6 Cookies and tracking technologies

We also use cookies and similar tracking technologies on our websites and apps. These are explained in our Cookie Notice, which is available on each of our attraction websites from the footer section and should be read alongside this notice.

2 Who is Responsible for Your Personal Information

2.1 Data Controller

The Merlin group entity that originally collected your personal information — typically the attraction or park where you purchased your ticket or first interacted with us — is the data controller responsible for your personal information. Where required by law, the legal identity of the relevant entity is set out in the terms and conditions of the attraction and is available on the relevant attraction website.

Other entities within the Merlin group may also act as data controllers where they independently decide why and how your information is processed, for example when you purchase a cluster ticket or a multi attraction annual pass where available. Please see the terms and conditions of the ticket you purchased for more details.

2.2 Joint controllership

For some of our services, your local Merlin attraction or park works together with Merlin Attractions Operations Ltd (“MAOL”), whose registered office is at Arbor Building, 16th Floor, 255 Blackfriars Road, London, SE1 9AX, United Kingdom.

Where they decide together how and why your personal data is used, they are both responsible for that processing under data protection law and as joint controllers under Article 26 of the GDPR.

2.2.1 Why do we use joint controllership?

All Merlin attractions carry out their Customer Relationship Management and Direct Marketing (“CRM”) activities jointly with MAOL to:

- manage guest communication about attraction visits and hotel bookings;

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- provide marketing communication to individuals who have opted in to marketing about Merlin attractions' offers, events and news via email, SMS, and online paid media (e.g., social media and Google Advertising) including classifying or profiling users, for example by their geographical location;
- carry out market analyses and surveys to help improve the quality of our services and customer experience.

2.2.2 How does this joint controllership arrangement work?

The table below explains who is responsible for which aspects of our CRM activities.

Personal Data Processing Activity	Description	Who is Responsible?
Collecting	Personal data is collected from individuals through different channels at Merlin Attractions, like the website marketing subscription form, booking platform(s), app registration, Wi-Fi feeds, etc.	Merlin Attraction
Capturing, access and management	Once your personal data has been collected, it is stored in our CRM system. MAOL's Central CRM Team manages access to that system and the personal data held in it.	MAOL
Selecting of target audience	Based on upcoming events, offers and short-term campaigns, we identify groups of guests who may be interested in receiving relevant marketing communications.	Merlin Attraction and MAOL
Building segments and sending	Based on this selection, we create groups in our CRM system and send the relevant communications to those guests.	MAOL

Further information about how we use your personal information for marketing and profiling purposes is set out in Sections 7.4, Section 7.5 and Section 8 of this notice.

2.2.3 What did the Parties agree on and what does this mean for you?

MAOL and the relevant Merlin attraction have agreed how they will meet their responsibilities under data protection law:

- Both will provide you with the information about how your personal data is handled on their websites.
- They will inform each other promptly if you exercise your data protection rights and will share the information needed to respond to your request.
- You may exercise your data protection rights as described in Section 14. Even though we provide a single contact point, you can still exercise your rights against either MAOL or the relevant Merlin Attraction. The single contact point is there to make this easier for you and to provide expert support when you exercise your rights.

2.2.4 Data Protection Officer

We have appointed a Data Protection Officer (DPO) who is responsible for overseeing how we handle your personal information. If you have any questions about the joint processing described in this section, you can contact our DPO using the details in Section 15.

Where applicable under local law, additional regional contact points or representatives may be designated and are described in the relevant jurisdiction specific sections of this notice.

3 How and When We Collect Your Personal Information

We collect personal information about you in three ways:

- directly from you,
- automatically when you use our services, and
- from third parties.

Please note that in some jurisdictions we may need your consent to collect or use certain personal information, either in addition to or instead of the other legal basis described in this notice.

3.1 Information you give us directly

You provide us with personal information when you:

- visit and navigate our websites or apps
- create or manage an account with us, including setting your preferences, managing your bookings and communications, and logging in across our attraction channels and platforms
- complete forms or surveys on our website
- subscribe to a service
- purchase tickets or passes, or make a hotel booking
- make a booking by telephone
- opt in to receiving marketing communications

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- participate in a competition, promotion or event
- contact us or interact with us — whether by telephone, email, online chat, chatbot, or by submitting a general enquiry, feedback or complaint through our websites or apps
- visit one of our attractions in person and engage with our services
- log in to Wi-Fi at one of our attractions
- book a Premium or VIP Experience package, where we may ask for additional information to help us provide the best experience for your visit — this may include details of any special occasion such as a birthday, personal requirements such as dietary needs or accessibility requirements, and any special requests
- you, your business or employer provide a service to us

3.2 Information we collect automatically

When you use our websites, apps or visit our attractions, we automatically collect certain information about you.

3.2.1 When you use our websites and services:

- IP addresses, browser type, operating system, session frequency and browsing history
- Location and traffic data, including how you navigate our websites and apps
- Account and authentication data — login history, session data, device recognition and single sign-on activity where you access our services across multiple attractions, channels or platforms
- Social media behaviour and user patterns where you interact with us through social media platforms
- Communications data including recordings of calls to our service centres, email communications, online chat records, and comments or reviews submitted through surveys or posted on our social media platforms

3.2.2 When you use our official mobile app:

We automatically collect the following data through our app and our app developer:

- Location, accuracy and date/time, collected periodically throughout the day (only while you are at the attraction)
- Date and time of each visit to the resort, including time first seen and last seen

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Operating system and version
- Device name
- Battery level and battery status (charging or not)
- Bluetooth status (on or off)
- Mobile network carrier name
- Location permission status (on or off)
- IP address
- Preferred locale and current time zone
- App version and build number
- App interactions
- Date and time you entered or exited a geofence region, where applicable
- Crash reports

This data is collected so that we can make the app and its features available to you, improve the app's functionality, prevent misuse, rectify malfunctions, and offer you a personalised guest experience.

3.2.3 When you visit one of our attractions in person:

- Ride safety – when you access a ride or attraction where safety restrictions apply, we may process information about your physical characteristics or health status to the extent necessary to comply with ride safety requirements
- CCTV and bodycam footage — we operate CCTV and, in some cases, bodycam systems at our attractions for the safety and security of our guests, staff and facilities
- Photography and ride photos — some attractions offer photography services and images may be taken on rides. Where photography services are in operation, notices are displayed. Images may be used on passes to identify individual pass holders and in some cases, and only where permitted by applicable privacy laws, for promotional purposes
- Biometric data — at some attractions, facial recognition technology is used either to match you to your ride photographs or for security purposes
- Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) — vehicle registration numbers are collected at some sites to manage car park access

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Wi-Fi — if you log in to Wi-Fi at one of our attractions, we collect information about your device and connection

3.3 Information we receive from third parties

We may also receive personal information about you from third parties, including:

- family members or legal guardians, for example where a booking is made on your behalf
- promotional partners
- payment providers
- third party merchants
- social media platforms, where you choose to register or log in to our digital services using your social media account, in which case the platform will share certain information with us such as your name, email address and profile information, in accordance with your privacy settings on that platform
- social media platforms, where you have posted, tagged, commented or otherwise interacted with our social media accounts or pages
- social media platforms, where they share information about you with us for advertising and audience targeting purposes, based on data you have independently provided to those platforms and subject to your privacy settings on those platforms
- public registers and social media platforms, where we believe this is necessary to help ensure the security of our attractions
- third party websites, services, surveys, and market research
- third party ticketing partners

4 What personal information we collect

The personal information we collect falls into the following categories:

- Account and identity data — account credentials, login history, session and authentication data, language preference, geolocation, profile information and preference settings, including data generated through single sign-on across our attractions and platforms
- Biometric data — facial recognition data where used for ride photo matching or for security purposes

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Communications data — call recordings, email and chat records, chatbot interactions, general enquiries, survey responses, post-visit feedback, net promoter scores, reviews, and social media interactions including posts, comments, tags and mentions on our social media accounts and pages
- Contact information — your name, postal address, telephone number, email address, date of birth and social media profile name
- Discount and eligibility verification data — where you apply for a special discount or concession (for example based on military service, emergency services employment, or other qualifying status), we may collect information to verify your eligibility, including from third party verification services
- Food, beverage and allergen data — dining reservations, meal and beverage purchases, and allergen information provided at the point of ordering or booking
- Health, dietary, accessibility and ride safety information — where you provide this to us in connection with a visit, booking or accessibility requirement, including allergen information, information relating to disability, supporting documentation such as medical letters or proof of disability status, prescriptions, records of any guest assistance, first aid interactions or incidents during your visit, and information about your physical characteristics or health status processed in connection with ride safety requirements
- Hotel and accommodation data — room preferences, bed configuration, accessibility room requirements, check-in and check-out times, and details of co-guests included in your booking
- Identity and demographic data — age, gender and similar demographic information, as well as government-issued identifiers such as passport or driving licence number where required for hotel check-in, age verification or other purposes, and your signature where required for terms acceptance, pass collection or hotel check-in
- Images and footage — CCTV, bodycam, ride photographs, pass photographs and ANPR data
- In-park spend data — retail, food, beverage and experience purchases made during your visit, beyond your initial ticket or pass purchase
- Inferred data — information we derive, rather than collect directly, about your preferences, interests and behaviours through profiling and analytics, based on the other information we hold about you. Further information about profiling is set out in Section 8.

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Location and traffic data — including location data collected through your browser or device, and movement and geofence data collected at our attractions via Wi-Fi, app usage, wearables and smart passes
- Loyalty and membership data — loyalty programme membership details, points balances, membership tier status and redemption history
- Marketing preferences and interests — your interests, marketing list assignments, records of any permissions given or objections raised, and your preferences as recorded through your interactions with our marketing communications
- Medical information – where applicable, we may collect health information with regard to the use of substances that are legal in the relevant jurisdiction, such as medicinal cannabis, in designated areas of our hotels and attractions
- Parking and transport data — parking bookings, shuttle bus usage, transport preferences and vehicle information beyond ANPR data
- Payment information — bank name and address, account number, sort code, card security code and card expiration date
- Purchase and visit history — your purchase history, attraction visit history and engagement with our services
- Queue and ride data — ride reservations and access and any priority access products, which generate data about your behaviour and movement through our attractions
- Technical and device data — IP addresses, browsing history, browser type, operating system, session frequency, cookies, device identifiers, app usage data, and data collected from devices associated with you across multiple sessions or platforms
- Third party booking and travel data — where you book through a travel agent, tour operator or online travel agency, we may receive personal information from that intermediary which may differ in scope from data collected through direct bookings
- Tracking technology data — data collected through tracking technologies including pixels, tags, web beacons, software development kits (SDKs) and similar tools used on our websites, apps and third-party platforms to collect information about your activity and interactions
- Turnstile and entry data — entry and exit data generated at park turnstiles and access points

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Viewing habits and content interaction data — information about how you interact with advertisements, offers and content made available to you through our websites, apps and other platforms, including what you view, click on and engage with, which we use to personalise your experience and analyse the effectiveness of our content
- Wearable and pass data — where our attractions use wristbands or smart passes that allow you to move around the park, access rides, use lockers or make purchases without cash, we collect data generated through your use of those devices including your movements and transactions within the attraction

Some of the information listed above may constitute special category data, for example biometric data, health data, prescriptions, allergen information that reveals religious belief or health conditions, and information relating to disability. This is addressed separately in Section 5.

If you provide us with personal information about another person, for example when making a group booking, we ask that you share this privacy notice with them, so they understand how we use their information, and that you confirm you are authorised to share their details with us.

5 How We Handle Sensitive Personal Information

Some of the personal information we collect is particularly sensitive. Data protection laws in many of the countries where we operate classify certain categories of personal information as requiring a higher standard of justification before they can be used. This section explains what sensitive personal information we collect, why we collect it, and on what basis.

5.1 What is sensitive personal information?

Sensitive personal information typically includes information about your health, disability, biometric characteristics, genetic data, racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, political opinions, trade union membership, sex life or sexual orientation, and in some jurisdictions, criminal convictions and offences, precise geolocation, immigration and citizenship status, military or veteran status, and children's personal information. The precise definition may vary by jurisdiction and applicable law.

We only collect sensitive personal information where it is necessary for a specific purpose and where we have a clear legal justification for doing so under applicable law.

5.2 The sensitive personal information we collect and why

5.2.1 Health, disability and accessibility information

Where you or someone in your group has a disability, health condition or accessibility requirement, we may collect information about that condition in order to provide appropriate support and ensure your safety during your visit. This may arise in a number of contexts, including:

- when you request accessibility support or adjustments at one of our attractions
- when you book a Premium or VIP Experience package and provide details of dietary, health or accessibility requirements
- when you apply for a disability access or ride access scheme operated at one of our attractions
- when you apply for eligibility-based discounts or concessions where proof of disability or health status is required
- when guest assistance is provided during your visit, including any first aid interactions or incidents

The information we collect in these contexts may include:

- information about the nature of a disability or health condition
- supporting documentation such as medical letters or proof of disability status recognised in your jurisdiction
- details of any specific requirements or adjustments needed during your visit
- records of any guest assistance, first aid interactions or incidents during your visit

We collect this information on the basis of your explicit consent and, where applicable, our legal obligations under disability and equality law. Where you are unable to provide consent in an emergency situation, we may also rely on your vital interests or those of another person. We use it only to provide you with appropriate support and ensure safety and will not use it for any other purpose.

For details of the disability access and ride access schemes available at your attraction, please refer to the accessibility section of the relevant attraction website.

5.2.2 Allergen and dietary information

Where you provide us with allergen or dietary information — for example when making a dining reservation, booking a Premium or VIP Experience, or ordering food and beverages at our attractions — this may reveal information about your health or religious beliefs and may therefore be treated as sensitive personal information under applicable law.

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

We collect this information solely to fulfil your request and to protect your health and safety during your visit. We will not use it for any other purpose.

5.2.3 Ride safety information

Our rides and attractions operate in accordance with manufacturer safety guidelines which set out restrictions based on physical and health characteristics. These may include restrictions relating to height, weight, pregnancy, certain medical or physical conditions, or recent surgery. Where such restrictions apply, our staff may need to process information about your physical characteristics or health status — for example, observing that a guest is pregnant or does not meet a height requirement — in order to ensure your safety and that of other guests on the ride.

We process this information solely to comply with our safety obligations and to keep you and other guests safe. We collect only what is strictly necessary for that purpose and do not retain it beyond the immediate context of your visit unless necessary under applicable law or it is relevant to an incident or guest assistance record.

5.2.4 Use of controlled substances

If you have been prescribed a substance that is legal in the relevant jurisdiction, such as medicinal cannabis, we will ask to see evidence of your prescription and a form of ID to match the name and address on the prescription with the name and address on the ID. Please note that we will not take copies of your prescription or ID for this check.

5.2.5 Biometric information

At some of our attractions we process biometric information, that is, personal information derived from the specific technical processing of your physical characteristics which allows or confirms your unique identification. This arises in the following contexts:

- Ride photography — facial recognition technology may be used to match you to photographs taken of you on a ride so that you can identify and purchase your ride photos. This is always based on your explicit consent, which you can withdraw at any time
- Security — biometric technology may be used for security purposes at some sites.
- Pass photographs — photographs used on passes to identify individual pass holders may constitute biometric information in some jurisdictions.

5.2.6 Precise geolocation

In some jurisdictions, precise real-time location data collected through our mobile apps or other technologies is classified as sensitive personal information. Where this applies, we will obtain your consent before collecting precise location data and you can withdraw that consent at any time through your device settings.

5.2.7 Criminal convictions and offences

In some circumstances, and only where permitted by applicable law, we may process information relating to criminal convictions or offences in connection with the safety and security of our attractions — for example where managing access restrictions following a criminal incident, liaising with law enforcement in connection with a security matter, or carrying out safeguarding checks in the context of child protection. We only process such information where we have identified an appropriate legal basis under applicable national law.

5.2.8 Military, veteran and immigration status

Where you apply for a discount or concession based on military or veteran service, or where your immigration or citizenship status is relevant to a service or benefit we provide, we may collect relevant documentation or information to verify your eligibility. We will only collect this where necessary and will use it solely for the purpose of verifying your eligibility.

5.2.9 Children's personal information

In many jurisdictions, personal information relating to children is treated as sensitive and subject to heightened protections. Where we collect personal information about children, we apply additional safeguards as described in Section 9 of this notice.

5.2.10 Information inferred through profiling that may reveal sensitive details

As set out in Section 8, we use profiling to tailor marketing and personalise your guest experience. In some cases, profiling may result in inferences being drawn that could reveal sensitive personal information for example, dietary preferences that suggest religious belief or health conditions. We will not use profiling to infer sensitive personal information unless we have a clear legal basis to do so under applicable law, which may include your explicit consent.

5.3 General principles applying to all sensitive personal information

Regardless of the type of sensitive personal information involved or the attraction at which it is collected, we apply the following principles:

- we collect only the minimum information necessary for the specific purpose
- we store sensitive personal information securely and restrict access to those who need it
- we do not retain sensitive personal information for longer than necessary — specific criteria we use to determine retention periods are set out in Section 13

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- we will not use sensitive personal information for any purpose other than that for which it was collected
- where processing is based on your consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time without affecting the lawfulness of processing carried out before withdrawal

6 CCTV and Physical Security

We operate a range of physical security measures at our attractions to keep our guests, staff and facilities safe. All physical security measures are operated in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. Where required by law, notices are displayed at the relevant locations to inform you that such measures are in use. This section explains those measures, what personal information they involve, and why we use them.

6.1 CCTV

We operate closed circuit television (CCTV) systems throughout our attractions, including at entrances, public areas, rides, car parks and other facilities. CCTV footage may capture images of you during your visit.

We use CCTV for the following purposes:

- the safety and security of our guests, staff and facilities
- detecting, preventing and investigating crime and other unlawful or inappropriate activity
- managing access to our sites
- supporting health and safety compliance and incident management
- assisting law enforcement and regulatory authorities where we are required or permitted to do so
- managing crowd flow and queue capacity at our attractions, by counting the number of individuals in a given area for operational planning purposes. Although identification of individual guests is not the purpose of this processing, images captured may in some cases incidentally allow individuals to be identified.

Where individuals are incidentally identified through footage collected for crowd flow and queue management purposes, that processing is covered by the same lawful basis as our broader CCTV operations

CCTV systems are operated by us and in some cases by third party security providers acting on our behalf. Footage is stored securely and access is restricted to authorised personnel only. We do not use CCTV footage for any purpose other than those listed above.

Notices are displayed at our attractions to inform you that CCTV is in operation.

6.2 Bodycam footage

Some of our security and operational staff wear body cameras. Bodycam footage may be recorded in the course of their duties for the safety and security of guests, staff and company property and assets, and to support the investigation of incidents.

Bodycam is only used in jurisdictions where it is permitted by applicable law. Where it is used, notices are displayed as required by local law. The same access controls and retention principles that apply to CCTV footage apply to bodycam footage.

6.3 Pass Photographs

Where you hold a pass for one of our attractions, we use a photograph to identify you as the rightful holder of that pass and to verify your identity at the point of entry. This is for the purpose of preventing unauthorised use of passes and ensuring the security of our attractions.

In some jurisdictions, the use of photographs for identification purposes may constitute biometric processing — this is addressed in Section 5.

6.4 Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR)

Some of our attractions use Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) technology to record vehicle registration numbers at car park entry and exit points. This is used to manage car park access and capacity, enforce parking terms and conditions, and support the security of our sites.

ANPR data is collected automatically when you drive into or out of a car park where the system is in operation. Signage is displayed at entry points where ANPR is in use.

6.5 Security threat detection and access control

We use a range of additional measures to protect the security of our attractions, guests and staff. These may include:

- monitoring of entry and exit points including through turnstiles and access control systems
- security screening at attraction entrances
- detection and prevention of fraud, unauthorised entry and other security threats

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- liaison with law enforcement and regulatory authorities where appropriate
- risk assessment and incident investigation

Where any of these measures involve the processing of personal information, we do so on the basis of our legal obligations, our legitimate interests in protecting the safety and security of our guests, staff and facilities, and where required by local law, with your consent.

6.6 Retention of physical security data

Physical security records including CCTV and bodycam footage are retained only for as long as necessary for the purposes for which they were collected. Standard criteria for our retention periods are set out in Section 13. Where footage is relevant to an ongoing investigation, legal claim or regulatory requirement, it may be retained for longer.

7 Why We Use Your Personal Information and Our Legal Basis

We use your personal information for a range of purposes connected with providing you with a safe, enjoyable and personalised experience at our attractions, operating our business responsibly, and complying with our legal obligations. This section explains those purposes and the legal basis on which we rely for each.

Data protection laws in many of the countries where we operate require us to have a legal justification — known as a lawful basis — for each purpose for which we use your personal information. The main basis we rely on are:

- Contract — the processing is necessary to provide you with a service you have requested or purchased, or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract
- Legal obligation — the processing is necessary for us to comply with a law or regulation that applies to us
- Legitimate interests — the processing is necessary for our legitimate business interests or those of a third party, provided those interests are not overridden by your rights and interests
- Vital interests — the processing is necessary to protect your life or that of another person in an emergency
- Consent — you have given us your specific, informed agreement to use your personal information for a particular purpose. Where we rely on consent, you can withdraw it at any time without affecting any processing already carried out

The basis we rely on varies by purpose and by jurisdiction.

7.1 Providing our services and fulfilling your bookings

We use your personal information to provide you with the products and services you request from us and to manage your relationship with us. This includes:

- processing your ticket, pass, hotel and dining bookings and managing your visit
- operating your account and managing your relationship with us across our attractions channels and platforms, including through our Customer Relationship Management system
- processing payments, managing financial transactions and issuing receipts and invoices
- providing customer service and handling your general enquiries, requests, feedback and complaints, including through telephone, email, online chat and chatbot
- delivering Premium and VIP Experience packages, including contacting you in advance of your visit to confirm special occasion details, personal requirements such as dietary needs or accessibility requirements, and any special requests
- managing hotel and resort stays, including room allocation, check-in and check-out processes, room preference management and administration of co-guests included in your booking
- processing and managing in-park engagement with our services, including purchases of food, beverages, retail and experiences during your visit
- managing loyalty programme membership, including administering points, rewards, tier status and redemptions
- operating competitions, prize draws, promotions and events in accordance with their terms, including administering entries, selecting and notifying winners and distributing prizes
- managing car parking and transport services, including processing parking bookings and managing car park access and capacity
- verifying your identity and eligibility where required, for example for concession pricing, pass access or discount schemes based on military or veteran service, disability status or other qualifying criteria, including processing any supporting documentation provided for verification purposes
- managing queue systems or priority access products where available at our attractions

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- operating wearable and smart pass systems where available, including processing movement and transaction data generated through your use of those systems to deliver the services associated with them
- processing personal information received from travel agents, tour operators and online travel agencies and booking service providers where you have booked through those channels, in order to manage your booking and visit
- managing subscriptions to our services
- processing your details where you cancel a contract online using our cancellation function, where you have a legal right to do so, in order to record your cancellation, confirm it has been received, and send you a written confirmation
- managing lost and found enquiries, including processing your contact details and details of lost items in order to reunite you with your property

The lawful basis for this processing is primarily performance of a contract with you. Some processing in this category is also necessary to comply with our legal obligations, for example in relation to payment processing, financial record keeping and consumer protection requirements.

7.2 Ride safety, accessibility and guest welfare

We use your personal information to ensure your safety and that of other guests at our attractions and to provide appropriate support during your visit. This includes:

- assessing whether you or a member of your group meet the physical and health requirements set by ride manufacturers for specific rides and attractions. This may involve processing information about physical characteristics, health status or pregnancy where relevant to ride safety restrictions, in order to protect your safety and that of other guests
- providing accessibility support and adjustments during your visit, including administering disability access and ride access support at our attractions. The specific arrangements vary by attraction and are set out in the accessibility page on each attraction's website
- processing allergen and dietary information you provide to us in connection with food and beverage services, dining reservations or Premium and VIP Experience packages, in order to fulfil your request and protect your health and safety during your visit
- managing guest welfare during your visit, including providing first aid, responding to incidents and maintaining records of any guest assistance provided

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

The lawful basis for ride safety processing is our legal obligations under applicable health and safety law and our legitimate interests in operating safe attractions and protecting the safety of our guests and staff. The lawful basis for accessibility support, allergen processing and guest welfare is your explicit consent, our legal obligations under applicable disability and equality law, and our legitimate interests in providing appropriate guest support. Where this processing involves sensitive personal information, the additional requirements described in Section 5 apply.

7.3 Photography and images

We use images of you and your group in the following ways:

- Ride photography — where photography services are available at an attraction, images taken during your ride or visit are made available for you to view and purchase. You are under no obligation to purchase your images and choosing not to do so does not affect your visit. This processing is based on our legitimate interests in providing this commercial service to guests
- Pass photographs — where your pass includes a photograph for identification purposes, we use that image to verify that the pass is being used by the correct individual and to prevent unauthorised use of passes. This is based on our legitimate interests in protecting the integrity of our pass systems and preventing fraud
- Promotional and marketing photography — where we wish to use an image of you for promotional or marketing purposes, including on social media, in advertising or in communications materials, we will ask for your consent before doing so. You can withdraw that consent at any time
- Competition and event photography — where you participate in a competition, prize draw or event at one of our attractions, images taken in that context may be published as part of documenting or promoting the activity, for example by publishing the names or images of winners or participants. Where this is the case, the specific privacy notice provided for that activity will explain how your image will be used and on what basis and where applicable we will obtain your consent before publishing it.

7.4 Marketing and personalisation

We use your personal information to keep you informed about our attractions, products, offers and events, and to tailor our communications and advertising to your interests. This includes:

- sending you marketing communications by email, SMS, post, push notification or other channels about our attractions, products, offers and events and reminding

you about unfinished purchases. Where required by applicable law we will ask for your consent before doing so. You can withdraw your consent or object to marketing at any time by following the opt-out link in any marketing communication, adjusting your account preferences, or contacting us. See Section 14 for more information about your rights

- showing you personalised advertising on social media platforms and other digital platforms, based on information we hold about you and your interactions with us
- building lookalike audiences on social media platforms — where you have provided consent to a social media platform to share your data, we may ask that platform to identify other registered users who share similar characteristics to you so that we can show them relevant advertising. This is based on your relationship with the social media platform and is subject to your privacy settings on that platform
- personalising the content, offers and recommendations you see on our websites, apps and other digital platforms, based on your visit history, purchase history, viewing habits and interaction with our content and advertising
- recommending experiences, products and content to you based on your preferences and interests
- analysing the performance of our advertising and content and your interaction with it, in order to understand what is working and to improve our marketing

The lawful basis for sending you direct marketing communications is your consent where required by applicable law, or our legitimate interests, where permitted by law and consent is not required.

The lawful basis for personalisation and advertising is our legitimate interests in promoting our attractions and providing a relevant guest experience, or your consent where required by applicable law.

7.5 Profiling and analytics

We use automated processing and analytics tools to better understand how our guests interact with us and to improve the guest experience and our business. This includes:

- analysing your purchase history, visit history, viewing habits and interactions with our content and advertising to build a profile of your preferences and interests
- using this profile to tailor marketing materials, offers and content to what we think you will be interested in
- analysing how guests use our websites, apps and attractions to understand traffic patterns, improve our digital services and optimise our operations

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- monitoring and analysing social media interactions, posts, tags and mentions relating to our attractions to understand guest sentiment, manage our reputation and identify opportunities to improve our services
- using cross-device and cross-platform data to understand how guests interact with us across multiple touchpoints and devices, in order to provide a consistent experience
- processing demographic information to better understand our guest base and tailor our services, communications and marketing appropriately
- creating anonymised or aggregated datasets from personal information we hold, which are used for product development, business intelligence and operational planning. Once anonymised this information is no longer personal information and is not subject to this notice
- understanding economic trends and developing insights to improve the guest experience across our attractions

We do not make automated decisions about you that produce legal effects or significantly affect you without human review. We do however carry out profiling by means of automated processing of your personal information to evaluate your preferences or predict your interests for the purpose of tailoring marketing and personalising your experience.

The lawful basis for analytics and profiling is our legitimate interests in understanding and improving the guest experience and operating our business effectively.

In some cases, profiling may result in inferences about you that touch on sensitive personal information, in these cases we will rely on your explicit consent or another appropriate basis under applicable law as required. We will not do this without a clear legal basis, which may include your explicit consent. Further information about profiling is set out in Section 8.

7.6 Safety, security and fraud prevention

We use your personal information to keep our attractions, guests and staff safe and to protect our business from harm. This includes:

- operating CCTV, bodycam and other physical security systems as described in Section 6, including for the purposes of safety monitoring, incident investigation and crime prevention
- managing entry and exit through turnstiles and access control systems, including recording entry and exit data for security and operational purposes

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- managing access rights across our attractions, including where access to one or more of our attractions has been restricted
- detecting, preventing and investigating fraud, unauthorised entry and other security threats
- operating ANPR systems at our car parks to manage access, capacity and security
- carrying out risk assessments and implementing appropriate security measures
- detecting and preventing crime and other unlawful or inappropriate activity, and liaising with law enforcement and regulatory authorities where appropriate
- consulting publicly available sources including public registers and social media platforms where necessary to protect the safety and security of our guests and staff, for example where we are investigating a security concern or enforcing an access restriction
- managing health and safety at our attractions and complying with our duty of care to guests and staff
- monitoring security threats and taking action to mitigate risks to our business, guests and staff
- protecting the confidential and proprietary information of our business, our guests and third parties from unauthorised access or disclosure
- managing crowd flow and queue capacity at our attractions using camera and other monitoring technology for operational planning purposes

The lawful basis for this processing is our legal obligations under applicable health and safety, security and regulatory law, and our legitimate interests in protecting the safety and security of our guests, staff and facilities.

7.7 Operating our websites, apps and digital services

We use your personal information to operate and improve our digital services. This includes:

- making our websites, apps and other digital platforms available to you and ensuring they function correctly
- operating and maintaining the security and integrity of our digital systems and infrastructure
- managing your account and enabling you to log in and access services across our attractions and platforms
- preventing misuse and addressing malfunctions

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- improving the functionality and features of our digital services based on how guests use them
- enabling interactive features within our apps and digital platforms, including location-based features and personalised in-park navigation where available
- processing tracking technology data including pixels, tags, web beacons, software development kits and similar tools for the purposes of analytics, service improvement and advertising measurement, in accordance with your cookie preferences — see our Cookie Notice for further details
- managing cross-device recognition to provide a consistent experience across the devices you use to access our services
- processing app data as described in Section 3.2.2 , to make the app available to you, improve its functionality, prevent misuse and personalise your experience

The lawful basis for this processing is performance of our contract with you for the use of our digital services, and our legitimate interests in maintaining secure, functional and improved digital platforms.

7.8 Business operations and management

We use your personal information in connection with the day-to-day operation and management of our business. This includes:

- accounting, auditing, financial management and insurance
- business forecasting, reporting and analysis, including management information and performance reporting
- governance, compliance and regulatory reporting
- managing relationships with our suppliers and other third parties, and ensuring they can access the information they need to provide services to us
- managing corporate transactions including mergers, acquisitions, reorganisations, joint ventures, business transfers, bankruptcies and similar transactions. In the event of such a transaction, your personal information may be transferred to the relevant third party as part of that transaction. We will ensure appropriate protections are in place and will inform you of any material changes to how your information is handled as a result
- business continuity planning and disaster recovery
- quality control and operational improvement
- ensuring adequate insurance coverage for our business

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- security threat detection and monitoring at a business level

The lawful basis for this processing is our legal obligations under applicable corporate, financial and regulatory law, and our legitimate interests in managing our business effectively and ensuring its continuity.

7.9 Legal compliance and regulatory matters

We use your personal information to comply with our legal obligations and to establish, exercise and defend our legal rights. This includes:

- complying with applicable laws and regulations in all jurisdictions where we operate, including data protection, consumer protection, health and safety and employment law
- responding to lawful requests from public authorities, regulatory bodies, law enforcement agencies and courts, including for the purposes of national security or law enforcement, whether within or outside your country
- establishing, exercising or defending legal claims and managing complaints and litigation
- cooperating with regulatory investigations and audits
- complying with court orders, subpoenas and other legal process
- disclosing information as required or permitted by applicable law

The lawful basis for this processing is our legal obligations under applicable law and, where disclosure is not legally required, our legitimate interests in cooperating with relevant authorities and protecting our legal rights.

7.10 Communications and public relations

We use personal information to communicate with our guests and stakeholders and to manage our public profile as a business. This includes:

- communicating with you about your visit, booking, account or any matter arising from your interaction with us
- publishing appropriate internal or external communications, promotional material and publicity, including on social media, where relevant notices are in place and where required by applicable law consent has been obtained
- managing our reputation and public profile, including monitoring how our attractions are discussed publicly and responding appropriately
- communicating with media, investors and other stakeholders about our business

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

The lawful basis for this processing is our legitimate interests in communicating effectively with our guests and stakeholders and managing our business reputation. Where communications involve the use of images or other personal information beyond what is strictly necessary for operational communication, we will rely on consent where required.

7.11 Guest feedback and service improvement

We use your personal information to gather feedback on your experience and to continuously improve our services. This includes:

- sending post-visit surveys and feedback requests
- collecting and analysing net promoter scores and other guest satisfaction metrics
- processing comments, reviews and ratings submitted through our websites, apps, social media platforms or third-party review platforms
- analysing feedback to improve our attractions, services, products and the overall guest experience

The lawful basis for this processing is our legitimate interests in understanding and continuously improving the guest experience.

7.12 Individuals providing services to us

Where you, your employer or your business provides services to us — for example as a contractor, supplier, consultant or employee of a service provider working at one of our attractions — we may process personal information about you for the following purposes:

- managing access to our sites, facilities and systems, including processing identity and credential information required for site entry and verifying that access is authorised
- verifying qualifications, certifications or security clearances where required for individuals accessing our attractions, facilities or systems
- managing health and safety compliance in relation to contractors and service provider staff working on our sites, including maintaining records of inductions, training and incidents
- managing operational communication with supplier and contractor representatives
- managing contracts and commercial relationships with your employer or the business you represent

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- processing invoicing and payment information where individuals or sole traders provide services directly to us
- conducting due diligence on suppliers and their staff where required for security, compliance or legal purposes

The lawful basis for this processing is primarily performance of a contract with you or your employer, our legal obligations under applicable health and safety and regulatory law, and our legitimate interests in managing our supplier relationships and ensuring the safety and security of our sites.

8 Profiling and Automated Processing

8.1 What is profiling?

Profiling means using your personal information to analyse or predict things about you — for example your preferences, interests or likely behaviours. It involves automated processing of your data, but unlike automated decision-making (explained below), profiling on its own does not produce a decision that directly affects you.

We carry out profiling to better understand our guests and to tailor our marketing and communications to your interests. For example, we may analyse your visit history, purchase history and interactions with our content to predict what offers, experiences or products you are likely to be interested in, and use that to personalise the marketing we send you.

8.2 What is automated decision-making?

Automated decision-making refers to a decision made solely by automated means — using software or algorithms — without any human involvement, where that decision has a legal or similarly significant effect on you.

We do not carry out automated decision-making of this kind. Any profiling we carry out is used to inform and tailor our communications and marketing, but decisions about how we interact with you involve human oversight.

8.3 How we use profiling

When you have given us your consent to provide you with marketing information, we may use profiling to ensure that marketing materials are tailored to your preferences and to what we think you will be interested in.

We use profiling for the following purposes:

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- to tailor marketing communications, offers and content to your preferences and interests, based on your visit history, purchase history, viewing habits and interactions with us
- to personalise the content and recommendations you see on our websites, apps and other digital platforms
- to build and refine audience segments for advertising purposes, including on social media platforms
- to analyse the effectiveness of our advertising and content and understand how guests engage with us
- to improve our services and guest experience by understanding patterns in how guests interact with our attractions and digital platforms

The profile we build about you may draw on information from across multiple Merlin attractions and digital platforms, not just your interactions with a single attraction or website. This means that your activity across our group of attractions and digital channels may be combined to build a more complete picture of your preferences and interests.

8.4 Third party profiling

In addition to our own profiling activities, third parties such as advertising networks, analytics providers and social media platforms may use tracking technologies on our websites and apps to carry out their own profiling based on your activity. This profiling is carried out independently by those third parties and is subject to their own privacy notices. You can manage your preferences for third party tracking technologies through our cookie consent tool. Please refer to our Cookie Notice for further information.

8.5 Inferences about sensitive personal information

In some cases, profiling may result in inferences being drawn about you that could touch on sensitive personal information — for example, dietary preferences that suggest religious belief or health conditions, or visit patterns that suggest family composition.

We will not use profiling to draw inferences about sensitive personal information unless we have a clear legal basis to do so under applicable law. Where that basis is your consent, we will ask for it explicitly and you can withdraw it at any time.

8.6 Your rights in relation to profiling

In some regions, you have the right to object to profiling used for direct marketing purposes. Where you object, we will stop using your personal information for that purpose. You also have the right, in some jurisdictions, not to be subject to decisions based solely on automated processing where those decisions produce legal or similarly significant effects on you. Further information about your rights, including how to exercise them, is set out in Section 14.

9 Children's Personal Information

Our attractions are designed to be enjoyed by families and guests of all ages. We take the privacy of children very seriously and apply additional protections to personal information we collect about them.

9.1 If you are a child

If you are a child, or under the age at which your country considers you an adult, this section is written for you. We want to make sure you understand what we do with your information when you visit us.

9.1.1 What information do we collect about you?

When you visit one of our attractions, we may collect information about you in the following situations:

- Your visit — when you come through our gates or go on rides, we may use your information to manage your visit and we also make sure we keep everyone safe, including through CCTV
- Bookings — when your parent or guardian books a visit that includes you, we may process your information as part of that booking
- Ride access and accessibility — if you need any special help, or if information about your height, health, or a disability is relevant to which rides you can go on, we may collect that information to make sure you can enjoy your visit safely
- Photos — Some of our attractions take photos on rides or around the park. If a photo is taken of you, it will normally only be used to give you a souvenir of your visit
- Apps and websites — if you use our apps or website, we collect technical information about how you use them

We do not keep your information for longer than we need to. Once we no longer need it, we safely delete it.

9.1.2 What do we use your information for?

We use your information to:

- Make sure your visit runs smoothly and that you have a great time

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Keep you and other guests safe
- Help you access rides and experiences that are right for you

9.1.3 When do we ask your parent or guardian for permission?

If we want to collect or use your personal information for something optional — like entering you into a competition or signing you up for a special event or experience like a birthday party — we will always ask your parent or guardian for permission first.

9.1.4 What we do not do with your information

We always do our best to make sure that we do not:

- send you marketing emails or messages
- use your information to show you targeted adverts
- share your information with other companies for their own marketing purposes
- collect more information about you than we need

9.1.5 Your rights – What can you ask us to do with your information?

You have rights over your personal information. For example, you — or your parent or guardian on your behalf — can ask us to:

- Show you what information we hold about you
- Correct anything that is wrong
- Delete your information

To do any of these things, you or your parent or guardian can contact us using the Privacy Web Form or contact details in Section 15.

9.2 Age thresholds

The age at which additional protections apply varies depending on where you are visiting from and which of our attractions you are visiting. As a general rule:

- in the United Kingdom we apply heightened protections to children under 13
- in the European Union we apply heightened protections to children under 16, though in some EU countries this threshold may be lower
- in the United States, the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) applies to children under 13, and we comply with its requirements in relation to our US-facing digital services

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- in the APAC jurisdictions where we operate our attractions, children's age varies between 10 and 18 years old depending on the relevant jurisdiction and we comply with applicable data protection laws when processing minors' personal information
- in other jurisdictions, the applicable age threshold is set out in the relevant regional section

9.3 What we collect about children and why

We collect personal information about children in the following contexts:

- Visit management — when a child visits one of our attractions, we may process information about them as part of managing the visit, including for ticket and booking purposes, safety management, ride access and CCTV
- Accessibility and ride safety — we may process information relevant to a child's physical characteristics or health status in connection with ride safety requirements or disability access schemes, as described in Sections 5 and 7.2
- Photography — where photography services are in operation at an attraction, a child's image may be captured as part of a ride photo or attraction visit. Where we wish to use a child's image for promotional purposes, we will seek parental consent
- Apps and digital services — where children use our apps or websites, we collect technical and usage data as described in Sections 3 and Section 4. We do not knowingly direct targeted advertising at children, and we do not knowingly share children's personal information with third parties for targeted advertising purposes
- Bookings made by adults — where a parent or guardian makes a booking that includes a child, we will process the child's information as part of that booking

9.4 Parental and guardian consent

Where we are required by applicable law to obtain parental or guardian consent before collecting personal information about a child, we will do so. The standard required varies by jurisdiction:

- in the US, COPPA requires verifiable parental consent before collecting personal information online from children under 13. Verifiable consent means we must use a method that can reasonably confirm that the person giving consent is the child's parent or guardian
- in the EU and UK, we rely on parental consent or authorisation by a holder of parental responsibility for processing that requires consent under applicable law

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- in the APAC jurisdictions where we operate our attractions, the requirements for parental or guardian consent vary by jurisdiction. Where required by applicable law, we mainly rely on consent by minor's parent or legal representative, with reasonable steps to obtain appropriate consent
- in other jurisdictions, the applicable consent requirements are set out in the relevant regional section

Where we have collected personal information about a child and subsequently discover that we did not have the required parental consent, we will delete that information or seek consent immediately.

9.5 What we do not do

- We do not knowingly send direct marketing to children
- We do not knowingly use children's personal information for targeted advertising without the separate verifiable parental consent required by applicable law
- We do not knowingly share children's personal information with third parties for their own marketing or advertising purposes
- We do not knowingly collect more personal information from children than is necessary for the purpose for which it is collected

9.6 Parental and guardian rights

Parents and guardians have the right, where permitted by applicable law, to:

- request access to the personal information we hold about their child
- request that we correct inaccurate information about their child
- request that we delete personal information we hold about their child
- withdraw consent to processing based on consent, without affecting any processing already carried out
- object to certain types of processing of their child's personal information

To exercise any of these rights, please contact us using the details in Section 14.10. We may ask you to verify your identity and your relationship to the child before we can action your request.

9.7 Third-party services and tracking technologies

Our websites and apps may include third party tools, software development kits and tracking technologies. Where our digital content or services are directed at children or likely to be used by children, we take steps to ensure that third party tools operating on our platforms do not collect children's personal information for purposes that would require parental consent without that consent having been obtained. Parents and guardians can manage cookie and tracking preferences through our consent management tool.

9.8 Retention of children's personal information

We retain personal information about children only for as long as necessary for the purpose for which it was collected, and no longer than permitted by applicable law.

10 Who We Share Your Personal Information With

We share your personal information with third parties only where necessary to deliver our services, operate our business, comply with our legal obligations, with your explicit consent or where we have another legitimate reason to do so. This section explains who we share it with and why.

We do not sell your personal information to third parties.

Any third parties with whom we share your personal information are limited by law and by contract in their ability to use it. We ensure that all third parties with whom we share your personal information are subject to privacy and security obligations consistent with this notice and applicable law.

10.1 Our staff and internal recipients

Your personal information may be accessed by our employees, temporary staff, workers and contractors where this is necessary for them to carry out their duties. Access is limited to those who need to know the information for the relevant purpose.

10.2 Merlin group companies

We may share your personal information with other companies within the Merlin group where this is necessary to:

- provide you with our services across multiple attractions and markets
- operate our shared technology infrastructure including our group-wide CRM platform
- support marketing and communications activities
- provide internal services including information technology systems, health and safety monitoring, security services and human resources services
- support corporate strategy, auditing and monitoring

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- fulfil any other purpose described in this notice

Transfers of personal information between Merlin group entities are governed by our intragroup data transfer arrangements. Access to your personal information within the group is limited to those who need it for the relevant purpose.

10.3 Cluster Ticket Management with other non-Merlin local attractions

To provide you with cluster ticket products offered jointly by us and our partners, as well as related services, we may share necessary visitor personal information and cluster ticket order details with our partners. This allows partners to provide services such as admission verification, order confirmation, and customer support related to the cluster ticket.

Our partners act as independent data controllers and will process your personal information in accordance with their own privacy policies and are responsible for complying with applicable data protection obligations.

If you choose not to provide the above information, or do not consent to us sharing the necessary information with our partners, we will be unable to provide cluster ticket products and related services. However, this will not affect your ability to use other products or services provided by us.

10.4 LEGO® Loyalty Program

Where you choose to verify or enrol in the LEGO® Insiders Program, we may disclose limited personal information (such as name, contact details and membership identifiers) to LEGO System A/S located in Denmark (European Union) via secure electronic systems, solely for the purpose of verifying, creating and administering your LEGO® Insiders membership at your request.

LEGO System A/S is located in a jurisdiction that is generally recognised as providing an adequate level of data protection or is subject to appropriate safeguards for the protection of personal information in accordance with applicable laws.

Participation in the LEGO® Insiders Program is voluntary, and LEGO System A/S will process your information in accordance with its own privacy policies and applicable laws, which you can access at <https://www.lego.com/en-gb/legal/notices-and-policies/privacy-policy>

10.5 Service providers and data processors

We use third party companies to provide services to us or on our behalf. These companies act as data processors — they process your personal information only on our instructions and are not permitted to use it for their own purposes. We have contracts in place with all such providers that require them to keep your personal information secure and handle it in accordance with applicable data protection law.

Our service providers include companies providing:

- technology and IT services, including IT platforms, cloud computing and storage, software development and app development
- app analytics and crash reporting, including through our app developer and associated analytics and error reporting tools
- email archiving and telecommunications services
- back-up, disaster recovery and cyber security services
- payment processing and financial services, including banks and other financial institutions
- operations and facility management services at our parks, attractions and hotels
- customer relationship management and marketing platforms
- analytics and search engine services
- security services, including third party security providers operating CCTV on our behalf
- off-site storage services
- professional services including legal, accounting, audit and insurance
- insurance companies, including those providing medical insurance and group income protection
- marketing and advertising agencies
- PR and communications agencies
- print and fulfilment agencies
- accessibility scheme administration, including partners operating disability access and ride access schemes at our attractions

10.6 Advertising and social media partners

We work with advertising networks, social media platforms and analytics providers to deliver personalised advertising and to measure the effectiveness of our marketing. These partners may act as independent controllers of your personal information — that is, they determine how they use your data for their own purposes, subject to their own privacy notices.

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

This includes:

- social media platforms such as Facebook, Instagram and others, where we share data to deliver targeted advertising and build lookalike audiences. Your use of those platforms is governed by their own privacy notices and privacy settings
- advertising networks and measurement providers who may use tracking technologies on our websites and apps to serve and measure advertising. These third parties may independently collect data about your activity on our sites and on other sites and apps across the internet

You can manage your preferences for advertising and tracking technologies through our cookie consent tool. Please refer to our Cookie Notice for further details.

10.7 Promotional and commercial partners

Where you participate in a promotion, competition or event that involves a third-party partner, we may share relevant personal information with that partner for the purpose of administering the activity. Where this is the case, the specific privacy notice for that activity will explain what is shared and with whom.

We may also share personal information with travel agents, tour operators and online travel agencies where you have booked through those channels, in order to manage your booking and provide you with the relevant services.

10.8 Law enforcement, regulatory authorities and legal proceedings

We may disclose your personal information to law enforcement agencies, regulatory bodies, government authorities, courts and other relevant parties where we are required or permitted to do so by applicable law, including in response to a court order, subpoena, search warrant or other legal process, or for the purposes of national security or law enforcement. We will cooperate with such requests while taking appropriate steps to protect the confidentiality of the information disclosed.

We may also disclose your personal information where necessary to establish, exercise or defend legal claims, or to prevent or investigate illegal or harmful activity.

10.9 Corporate transactions

If we are involved in a merger, acquisition, reorganisation, joint venture, sale of assets, bankruptcy or similar corporate transaction, your personal information may be transferred to the relevant third party as part of that transaction.

Where we transfer or sell any of our attractions or other assets, personal information held in connection with those attractions may be transferred as part of that transaction. Where this occurs, we will inform affected individuals in advance and provide clear information about the nature of the personal information being transferred, the identity of the acquiring party, and the purposes for which it will be used. You will have the option to unsubscribe from marketing communications or, in some cases, to refuse the transfer of your personal information, and we will ensure that mechanisms are in place for you to exercise these rights easily and promptly.

We will ensure that appropriate protections are in place before any such transfer takes place.

10.10 Our obligations when sharing your personal information

Regardless of who we share your personal information with, we apply the following principles:

- we only share what is necessary for the relevant purpose
- where third parties act as processors on our behalf, we have contracts in place that require them to keep your information secure and use it only for the purposes we specify
- where third parties act as independent controllers, we share your information only where we have a lawful basis to do so and we inform you accordingly in this notice
- we do not share your personal information with third parties for their own marketing purposes without your consent

11 AI Tools

We use software and tools that incorporate artificial intelligence (AI) to help us operate more efficiently and to improve the experience we provide to our guests. This section explains how we use AI, what safeguards we have in place, and what this means for you.

11.1 What is AI and why does it matter for your privacy?

Artificial intelligence refers to software that can perform tasks that would typically require human intelligence — such as understanding language, recognising patterns, making recommendations or summarising information. When AI tools process personal information about you, the same data protection principles apply as to any other processing. We are committed to using AI responsibly and in a way that is transparent, proportionate and consistent with this notice.

11.2 How we use AI

We use AI tools for the following purposes:

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- Guest communications — to analyse emails and other content you send to us, for example to suggest appropriate responses to guest enquiries or to summarise communications for internal management. Where AI is used to draft a response to you, that response is reviewed by a member of our staff before it is sent. Your personal information is used only in line with the purposes for which it was originally provided
- Guest support and chatbots — to provide you with initial information and direct your support requests through an initial engagement with an AI-powered chatbot on some of our websites or apps. We will always provide clear indication that you are interacting with a chatbot before communication commences, so you are never left unaware that you are not speaking with a person
- Personalisation and advertising — to provide insights into your preferences and to analyse the effectiveness of our advertising and content, helping us to tailor what we show you to what we think you will find relevant
- Operational automation — to automate certain processes within our attractions to improve the guest experience and operational efficiency
- Business analytics — to analyse data in relation to business performance, operational planning and strategic initiatives
- Meeting support — where you have agreed to participate in a meeting at our offices or remotely, for example using Teams or a similar platform, AI may be used to help summarise and analyse the meeting content and to enable real-time translation

11.3 Human oversight

We do not use AI to make decisions about you that have legal or similarly significant effects without human involvement. We maintain human oversight of AI-assisted processes that affect our guests.

11.4 Our AI suppliers

AI tools we use are provided by third party suppliers who have been subject to our due diligence process before being engaged. Those suppliers are contractually required to handle personal information only in accordance with our instructions and in compliance with applicable data protection law. We do not allow our AI suppliers to use your personal information for their own purposes. Where our suppliers incorporate AI into their own products and services, we ensure that appropriate contractual protections are in place.

11.5 An evolving area

The use of AI in business is developing rapidly, as is the regulatory framework governing it. We are committed to keeping our use of AI under review and to updating this section of our privacy notice as our practices develop or as new regulatory requirements apply. If we introduce new AI-driven processing that materially affects you, we will update this notice and bring it to your attention where required by applicable law.

12 International Transfers of Personal Information

We are a global business, operating attractions in many countries around the world. This means that your personal information may be transferred to, stored in, or processed in countries other than the one in which it was collected. This section explains when and why this happens and what safeguards we put in place.

12.1 Why we transfer personal information internationally

International transfers of your personal information may occur in a number of circumstances, including:

- where your personal information is stored on servers or cloud infrastructure located in another country
- where we share your personal information with Merlin group companies located in other countries for the purposes described in this notice
- where we use service providers, technology platforms or other third parties whose operations are based in another country
- where you visit one of our attractions in a country other than your country of residence

12.2 How we protect your personal information when transferring it internationally

We only transfer your personal information to other countries where we are satisfied that adequate safeguards are in place to protect it. The mechanism we use depends on where the data is coming from and where it is going. The safeguards we rely on include:

- Adequacy decisions — where the country to which we transfer your personal information has been recognised by the relevant authorities in your jurisdiction as providing an adequate level of data protection, we may rely on that adequacy decision as the basis for the transfer. For example, under EU and UK data protection law, the European Commission and the UK Secretary of State respectively may designate certain countries as adequate

- Standard contractual clauses — where no adequacy decision applies, we put in place contractual measures approved under applicable law that require the recipient to protect your personal information to the same standard as required in your jurisdiction. Under EU law these are known as Standard Contractual Clauses (SCCs); under UK law the equivalent mechanism is the International Data Transfer Agreement (IDTA) or the UK addendum to the EU SCCs
- Data Privacy Framework — where personal information is transferred from the EU or UK to the United States, we may rely on the EU-US Data Privacy Framework or its UK Extension, where such framework is recognised under applicable law and the recipient is certified under it
- Other appropriate safeguards — in some circumstances we may rely on other transfer mechanisms permitted under applicable law

If you are based in the EU or UK and would like to obtain a copy of the specific transfer safeguards we have put in place for transfers of your personal information, please contact us using the details in Section 15.

12.3 Transfers to specific jurisdictions

Given the global nature of our business, transfers may occur to and from a range of countries. In particular:

- United States — many of our technology service providers and cloud platforms are based in or operate infrastructure in the United States. Transfers to the US are protected by the mechanisms described above, including SCCs and the Data Privacy Framework where applicable
- Other jurisdictions — where transfers occur to other countries, we apply the appropriate transfer mechanism under applicable law

13 How Long We Keep Your Personal Information

We do not keep your personal information for longer than is necessary for the purposes for which it was collected. This section explains how we decide how long to retain your information and what happens to it when we no longer need it.

13.1 How we decide how long to keep your information

When deciding how long to retain your personal information, we consider the following:

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

- The purpose for which it was collected — we retain your personal information for as long as is necessary to fulfil the purpose for which it was originally collected, consistent with this notice
- Legal obligations — some laws and regulations require us to keep certain records for minimum periods. We will retain personal information for as long as any such obligation requires
- Legal claims and disputes — where personal information may be relevant to an actual or anticipated legal claim, dispute or regulatory investigation, we may retain it until that matter is resolved and any applicable limitation period has expired
- Legal holds — where we have issued a legal hold or have been required to preserve information, we will retain it for as long as the hold remains in place
- Contractual requirements — where we have a contractual obligation to retain information for a specified period, we will do so
- Legitimate business purposes — where retention is necessary to support a legitimate business purpose, for example to maintain records of transactions or to resolve complaints, we will retain information for an appropriate period consistent with that purpose

13.2 Specific retention considerations by data type

The following principles apply to specific categories of personal information:

- CCTV and physical security footage — retained only for as long as necessary for the security and safety purposes for which it was collected, unless retained for longer in connection with an incident, investigation or legal claim
- Sensitive personal information — retained for the minimum period necessary and subject to stricter access controls
- Children's personal information — retained for the minimum period necessary for the purpose for which it was collected
- Marketing data — retained for as long as you remain an active guest or until you withdraw your consent or object to marketing, whichever is earlier
- Financial and transactional records — retained for as long as required by applicable financial, tax and accounting laws

13.3 Anonymisation and de-identification

Rather than deleting your personal information, we may in some cases anonymise or de-identify it by permanently removing all identifying details. Once anonymised, the resulting information is no longer personal information and is not subject to this notice.

13.4 Deletion and disposal

When personal information is no longer required and no retention obligation applies, we will delete or dispose of it securely. Where personal information is held by our service providers, we require them to delete or return it at the end of the relevant retention period in accordance with our contractual arrangements with them.

14 Your Rights

Depending on where you are based and which laws apply to the processing of your personal information, you may have a number of rights in relation to how we use your personal information. This section explains those rights and how you can exercise them.

Not all rights apply in all jurisdictions. The rights available to you and any conditions or limitations on those rights are determined by the law applicable in your jurisdiction.

14.1 Right of access

You may have the right to request a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to receive information about how we use it. This is sometimes called a Subject Access Request or SAR.

14.2 Right to rectification

If you believe that personal information we hold about you is inaccurate or incomplete, you may have the right to ask us to correct or update it.

14.3 Right to erasure

You may have the right to ask us to delete personal information we hold about you in certain circumstances. This is sometimes called the right to be forgotten.

We may not always be able to comply with a request for erasure — for example if you still have an upcoming visit for which we need your information or when we are required to retain the information to comply with a legal obligation or to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim.

14.4 Right to restriction

You may have the right to ask us to restrict the processing of your personal information in certain circumstances — for example while we verify the accuracy of information you have disputed, or while we consider an objection you have raised.

14.5 Right to data portability

In some circumstances you may have the right to receive personal information you have provided to us in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, and to have it transferred to another organisation where technically feasible.

14.6 Right to object

You may have the right to object to our processing of your personal information where we rely on legitimate interests as our legal basis. Where you object, we will stop processing unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds that override your rights and interests, or unless we need to continue processing to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim.

You have the right to object to the use of your personal information for direct marketing at any time. Where you object to direct marketing, we will stop using your information for that purpose without needing to demonstrate any overriding grounds.

14.7 Right to withdraw consent

Where we rely on your consent as the legal basis for processing your personal information, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent does not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdrew it. You can withdraw consent by following the opt-out link in any marketing communication, adjusting your account preferences, or contacting us using the details in Section 15.

14.8 Right not to be subject to automated decision-making

You may have the right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing — including profiling — where that decision produces legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affects you. As described in Section 8, we do not carry out automated decision-making of this kind.

14.9 Additional rights in some jurisdictions

Other jurisdictions may provide additional rights under their local data protection laws, as set out in the relevant regional section.

14.10 How to exercise your rights

To exercise any of the rights described in this section, please complete our online request form at Privacy Web Form or contact us using the details in Section 15.

We may need to verify your identity before we can action your request. This is to ensure that your personal information is not disclosed to or actioned by anyone who does not have the right to do so. We may ask you to provide proof of identity and, where relevant, proof of your relationship to any other person whose rights you are exercising on their behalf for example, as a parent or guardian acting for a child.

In some jurisdictions you may exercise your rights through an authorised agent. Where this applies, we may require the agent to provide evidence of their authorisation before we can action the request.

We will not charge a fee to exercise any of your rights unless your request is unfounded or excessive, in which case we may charge a reasonable fee in the circumstances.

We aim to respond to valid requests within one month. Where a request is particularly complex or you have made several requests, we may take up to three months to respond; we will let you know if this is the case. We may ask you to clarify what you are seeking in order to help us action your request more quickly.

In some jurisdictions, local laws may provide for additional exemptions to certain rights, in particular, the right of access, whereby personal information may be withheld in certain circumstances, for example where it is subject to legal privilege. Where an exemption applies, we will inform you.

14.11 Right to complain

If you are unhappy with how we have handled your personal information or with our response to a rights request, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority or data protection authority responsible for your jurisdiction. We would welcome the opportunity to address your concerns directly before you contact a supervisory authority — please contact us in the first instance using the details in Section 15.

In some jurisdictions, including the UK, you also have a right to raise a complaint directly with us. To do so, please contact us by completing the Privacy Web Form. Further information about your rights in the UK is set out in Section 17.1.1 of this notice.

15 Contact and Complaints

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

If you have any questions about this privacy notice, about how we use your personal information, or if you wish to exercise any of your rights, please contact us using the details below.

Please note that our Data Protection Team can only assist with privacy and personal data related queries. For queries about tickets, bookings, attraction visits or any other operational matters, please use the contact details set out in the terms and conditions applicable to your visit or purchase, available on the relevant attraction website.

16 Glossary

Anonymisation — the process of removing or altering personal information so that individuals can no longer be identified from it. Once information is genuinely anonymised it is no longer personal information and data protection law does not apply to it.

ANPR (Automatic Number Plate Recognition) — technology that automatically reads and records vehicle registration plates, used at some of our attractions to manage car park access and security.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) — software that can perform tasks that would typically require human intelligence, such as understanding language, recognising patterns or making recommendations. We use AI tools for certain operational and guest-facing purposes as described in Section 11.

Biometric data — personal information derived from the specific technical processing of physical characteristics — such as facial features or fingerprints — that allows or confirms the unique identification of an individual.

CCTV (Closed Circuit Television) — a system of cameras used to monitor and record activity in and around our attractions for safety and security purposes.

Consent — a freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of your agreement to the processing of your personal information for a particular purpose. Where we rely on consent, you can withdraw it at any time.

Cookie — a small file placed on your device when you visit a website, which allows the website to recognise your device and store certain information about your preferences or activity. For further information please refer to our Cookie Notice.

CRM (Customer Relationship Management) — a system used to manage and analyse interactions and relationships with guests across our attractions and platforms.

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

Data controller — the legal entity that determines the purposes and means of processing personal information. As explained in Section 2, the data controller for your personal information is the Merlin group entity that originally collected it.

Data Privacy Framework — a framework adopted between the EU, UK and United States to protect the rights of individuals whose personal information is transferred to the US. It allows organisations certified under the framework to receive personal data from the EU and UK without requiring additional transfer safeguards.

Data processor — a company or individual that processes personal information on behalf of a data controller, under the data controller's instructions. Our service providers typically act as data processors.

Data Protection Officer (DPO) — an individual appointed by an organisation to oversee its data protection practices and ensure compliance with applicable data protection law. Our DPO contact details are set out in Section 15.

EEA (European Economic Area) — the member states of the European Union plus Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway.

GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) — the EU data protection regulation (Regulation 2016/679) that sets out rules for the processing of personal information about individuals in the European Union. The UK has its own equivalent legislation, known as the UK GDPR, which applies in the United Kingdom following its departure from the EU.

Guest — any individual who visits one of our attractions, uses our websites or apps, makes a booking or otherwise interacts with us, including family members and children whose information is provided by a parent or guardian.

Joint controllers — two or more organisations that jointly determine the purposes and means of processing personal information. As described in Section 2.2, Merlin group entities operate as joint controllers for certain processing activities including our group CRM platform.

Lawful basis — the legal justification required under data protection law before personal information can be processed. The main lawful basis we rely on are set out in Section 7.

Legitimate interests — a lawful basis for processing personal information where the processing is necessary for the genuine interests of the organisation or a third party, provided those interests are not overridden by the rights and interests of the individual.

Personal information — any information that identifies or could identify a living individual, directly or indirectly. This includes obvious identifiers such as your name and email address, as well as less obvious information such as an IP address or a cookie identifier where these can be linked to you.

Global Visitor Privacy Notice 2026

Profiling — the automated processing of personal information to evaluate, analyse or predict things about an individual — such as their preferences, interests or likely behaviours. Further information about how we use profiling is set out in Section 8.

Sensitive personal information — certain categories of personal information that are subject to stricter protections under applicable law because of their particularly sensitive nature. These typically include information about health, disability, biometric characteristics, genetic data, racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, political opinions, trade union membership, sex life or sexual orientation, and in some jurisdictions criminal convictions, precise geolocation, immigration status and children's personal information. Further information is set out in Section 5.

Service providers — third party companies that provide services to us and process personal information on our behalf, such as cloud computing providers, payment processors and analytics providers.

Standard Contractual Clauses (SCCs) — contractual terms approved by the European Commission that can be used to protect personal information transferred from the EU to countries that do not have an adequacy decision. The UK equivalent is the International Data Transfer Agreement (IDTA).

Supervisory authority — the independent public body responsible for overseeing compliance with data protection law in a given country or region. In the UK this is the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). In EU member states each country has its own supervisory authority.

17 Regional Specific Privacy Information

17.1 United Kingdom

This section applies to guests visiting our UK attractions and to the processing of personal information governed by the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018) and the Data (Use and Access) Act 2025.

17.1.1 Complaints about data processing

You may submit a complaint if you believe our handling of your personal data breaches UK data-protection law (as mentioned above). Complaints can relate to collection, use, storage, security, retention, accuracy, or responses to rights requests.

You can complain via our Privacy Web Form.

We will acknowledge receipt within 30 days of the day after we receive your complaint. We will begin enquiries without undue delay and carry out an investigation that is reasonable and proportionate to the issues raised. We will keep you informed of progress and provide the outcome without undue delay.

Our investigation will include gathering relevant records, interviewing staff, and assessing whether remedial action (correction, deletion, access, process change, or security measures) is required.

We will log all complaints centrally which will include date received, complainant, summary, investigation steps, outcome, remedial actions, and closure date. Records will be retained only as necessary to demonstrate compliance and for regulatory review.

if you remain dissatisfied you may complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). We will cooperate with any ICO enquiries and preserve evidence for regulatory review.

17.1.2 Disability Access and Ride Access

At our UK attractions we operate a Ride Access Pass (RAP) scheme in partnership with Nimbus Disability. Nimbus independently assesses your needs and determines eligibility. All application data is handled exclusively by Nimbus under their own privacy notice, available at this link.

Once you have been issued with an Access Card by Nimbus, our UK attractions will process your Ride Access Pass ID via the attraction website. The personal information we collect for this purpose is:

- a photograph of yourself or the individual you are applying for
- your name, address and contact information, or those of the individual you are applying for

17.1.3 Children's Personal Information

Under the UK GDPR, children under 13 cannot consent to the processing of their personal information in relation to information society services: parental or guardian consent is required for children under 13 in that context.

17.1.4 Direct Marketing

In the UK, direct marketing by electronic means is also subject to the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations 2003 (PECR). Where we send marketing by email or other electronic means, we comply with PECR requirements including obtaining appropriate consent or relying on the soft opt-in exemption where applicable.
